Fort Lauderdale, FL

Joe Costello is Of Counsel with the firm and the foundation of the firm's Marital and Family Law practice. For more than sixteen years, Joe has represented clients throughout the State of Florida in matters involving dissolution of marriage, high-net-worth equitable distribution, alimony, complex parenting disputes, paternity, relocation, prenuptial and postnuptial agreements, post-judgment proceedings, and appeals. Joe approaches every matter with the understanding that successful family law representation requires not only a command of the law, but also sound judgment, strategic planning, and a practical appreciation of the personal and financial issues that accompany family litigation.

Joe has substantial experience handling sophisticated Marital and Family Law matters involving closely held businesses, professional practices, executive compensation, investment and real estate portfolios, trusts, inherited assets, foreign assets, and complex income determination. This experience routinely involves collaboration with forensic accountants, business valuation experts, real estate appraisers, vocational experts, and licensed mental health professionals, including child psychologists, psychological evaluators, and reunification therapists. Whether litigating disputed financial issues or addressing parenting matters involving children with specialized educational, developmental, or psychological needs, Joe works closely with leading experts to develop comprehensive and persuasive case strategies.

A significant portion of Joe's Marital and Family Law clientele consists of professionals, professional athletes, executives, entrepreneurs, physicians, founders, attorneys, accountants, real estate professionals, and business owners whose legal matters require discretion, meticulous preparation, and sophisticated advocacy. Joe is known for his professionalism, responsiveness, and careful attention to detail, earning the trust of clients facing some of the most significant financial and personal decisions of their lives. By combining individualized representation with the firm's multidisciplinary resources, Joe provides our clients with experienced counsel capable of addressing both the legal and financial complexities of modern family law litigation.

A South Florida native, Joe is a devoted husband and father and a former division collegiate baseball player.
